VALUE OF JARED SMITH'S PROPOSALS FOR HAWAII

Editor Advertiser: Everybody must have noticed how the Honolulu newspapers had nothing but sarcasm and sneers for Mr. Jared Smith, the coming United States agriculturist and his reported remarks or explanations of his plans. Interested parties here cool and so did I, but how comes the "Paradise of the Pacific" in a sample number and sneers again and ridicules Mr. Smith.

All City folks may agree with the editor of the Paradise, but I do not believe that any experienced farmer will join the wisecracks in talking or writing against Mr. Smith and his plans. If you allow me, I will quote from his reported statement and add (although not an experienced farmer) my own observations:

1. His first work will be to teach the Hawaiian people how to grow garden truck.

Well, I have tried again and again all kinds of vegetable seeds in the Tantalus mountains without the slightest success. My gardeners were of different nationalities—American, German, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, etc.—but all failed. There is no doubt that all kinds of vegetables can be raised on any plantation, but it requires somebody who understands the cultivation of the plants, and Mr. Smith is certainly able to advise and to instruct.

2. "They will also be taught the value of dairy cows," etc.

There is no doubt that they are of great value to poor and other families, and I would like to make my own butter, etc., but I have not succeeded in finding any expert dairymen unless I pay him $1.50 for each pound of butter. My farm furnishes food enough for several cows, but it is all lost and wasted.

3. "The forage plants produced for Hawaiian consumption."

We can laugh at this—when shiploads of hay and other feed are imported from abroad. We certainly can raise all required feed on our islands, but it takes a man like Mr. Smith to teach us how!

4. "Poor families raising chickens."

There are fortunes in this enterprise, as chickens are thriving finely in the mountains, feeding mostly on worms and other insects. The mongoses don't seem to trouble the big hens, only young chickens need special care and attention. We get plenty eggs from the mountains and might easily increase the quantity.

PRAYER FOR THE KING.

The Friend's Comment on a Local Episcopal Custom.

Our greatly esteemed friend, the editor of the Anglican Church Chronicle, appears to have in view the March issue of The Friend, in some strictures upon the unreasonableness of objecting to prayers in Hawaiian churches for the King of England. We hasten to assure our good neighbor that we might approve of such prayers, if suitably worded. Our objection was solely to the kind of prayer promulgated, which contained expressions repugnant to the democratic minds of Americans. It was for this reason that we reprinted the prayer in full.

Such expressions are the three following: "That his people may never be wanting in honor of his person, and dutiful submission to his authority;" "Do thou weaken the hands, blast the designs, and defeat the enterprises of all his enemies, that no secret conspiracies, nor open violence, may disquiet his reign;" that "supported by Thy powers may be triumph over all opposition."

The first of the above three petitions savors too much for the American mind, of subservency to royal station and authority. The second is repugnant to the principle that it is often a duty of citizens to use violence in resisting the tyrannies of kings, as did Cromwell and Hampden. The third petition assumes that the king will always be in the right. As Americans, we cannot pray that King Edward may triumph over us, if we should happen to be in opposition to him. We respectfully recommend that the prayer be materially changed, and made suitable for the American citizens of Hawaii to offer in behalf of our honored neighbor, the King of England. What is manifestly needed here is a bishop of healthy American instincts to preside over an American church.

IN POLICE COURT.

Judge Wilcox Listens to a Bunch of Very Ordinary Cases.

In the police court yesterday J. H. Miller was fined $5 and costs for assault and battery on K. Ogata.

Miller went to wash in complainant's bathroom, and tendered a quarter in payment. The quarter was plugged, and Ogata refused to accept it. Miller said that it was all the money he had. Ogata thereupon sought to forcibly detain him, and Miller struck him.

"Crimp" McCarthy, who is breaking the assault and battery record, appeared to answer a charge of striking John Bruce, a sailor. The case went over until May 6th.

David Manuel, the man with the money, was fined $10 and costs for profanity. His honor had evidently heard of his wealth.

The case against H. E. Bursley, charged with having stolen paint brushes from Sterling, the painter, was continued until May 6th.

Other cases dealt with were: W. Cook, D. Spaulding, larceny, first degree, May 10th; Polo-alea, selling liquor, nolle prosequi, five drunkenness, $2 and costs; Ng Pak, assault and battery on Lan Kee, May 4th; Hoyakama, Sam Kee, C. Alwohi, common nuisance, reprimanded and discharged; D. J. Gilispie, John Bruce, vagrancy, May 4th; Bob Gardner, selling liquor, May 4th; Charles Ahong, Louise, drunkenness, nolle prosequi; Robert Murray, drunkenness, reprimanded and discharged.

The reason why Polo-alea was discharged from the Circuit Court on a charge of liquor selling, was that there was no sworn complaint. The decision of the upper court made this second charge against him a first offense, and he was re-fined accordingly. The original fine was $500, as provided by law for a second offense.

Missionary-phobia.

The New York Sun recently devoted a column or two to showing that the mortality of the Sandwich Islands was in consequence of the missionaries teaching them to wear shirts, which were destructive to health! The present writer can personally testify that up to 1840 twenty years after the arrival of the missionaries, very few of the natives ever wore shirts, except at church. Moreover, the decrease of population was more rapid during the forty years before the missionaries came, than it was in the forty succeeding if we had a man who understands the business.

5. "And pigs."

This business can be carried on and become a very profitable one on lands about ten miles distant from Honolulu. Pigs are imported and consumed in large quantities; they can be easily raised by good food growing here, such as sugar cane, etc. Mr. Smith may give some advice to stop further importation.

6. "Coffee-raising will be studied."

And I have studied it for years; but this is not now an agricultural enterprise, but a question of cheap labor for picking, etc.

7. "Forestry will be done on the mountain tops."

Innumerable blunders have been committed by attempts to reforest our vast and bare mountain slopes with entirely useless trees. It is a pitiful sight to see those miserable and good-for-nothing monkey-pods on the Makiki ridge. Even the eucalyptus are of little use, and only during the last few years have useful trees like alligator pears, mangoes, oranges, etc., been planted there.

Other trees on my mountain retreat, such as peaches, pears, apples, apricots, etc., have not done as well as perhaps they might have done if treated by an expert, and Mr. Smith certainly can educate a number of young people to become experts.

Before closing I wish to state most emphatically that nothing in my remarks is intended to cast any reflection upon Hawaiian experts, such as Messrs. Herbert, Blouin, Clark, Vredenburg, Taylor, Haughs and others, but that I merely wish to note my protest against any unkind remarks concerning Mr. Jared Smith's commission. He should be received by all practical farmers and intended agriculturists with open arms and be thanked for all advice joyfully and appreciatively. Welcome to Mr. Jared Smith from all good Hawaiians, including yours sincerely,

H. W. SCHMIDT,

P. O. Box 568.

P. S.—Here is a true story about an agricultural Chinaman, which happened within the last week: I was up on my mountain retreat with a guest and, seeing the violet bushes covered with flowers, told my Chinese gardener to bring some flowers down the next day. He did bring a lot of violet flowers—but all with the roots!

In 1780, estimated population, 400,000; 1820, estimated population, 140,000; 1835, first census, 108,579; 1860, census, 69,800.

Our men-servants, when about the house, always wore a shirt, but no pants. They were usually healthy, being under the missionaries' sanitary regimen. The only material modification in female attire, was in clothing to cover the bosom, which had always been left exposed. A leading cause of depopulation was the introduction of syphilis by the white discoverers, syphilization preceding civilization.—The Friend.

PAWNBROKERS TO ARRIVE.

The Three Brass Balls May Soon Swing From Honolulu Stores.

Although a law licensing pawnbroking has been in effect in Honolulu since 1886, no licenses have ever been issued to "accommodate the people at a slight rate of interest." Several individuals bearing all the earmarks of "Uncles," have, however, opened stores on the upper part of Fort street that need little besides the three brass balls to make them the real article.

The second-hand man is largely in evidence, and the well known trade mark may be seen outside the door of some Hebrew dealer in hand-me-downs, chairs, watches and musical instruments. As the law runs, 4 per cent per month is all that Mr. Jacobs, or Honolulu, can charge on loans of $20 or under; up to $100 the rate is halved, and above that amount only 1 per cent is allowed; not so extravagant a charge for a "just till pay day" loan.

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Porto Rican Boy Steals a Ride to Fall Beneath the Train.

Papay Belaski, a young Porto Rican, attending school in Wailuku, Maui, while stealing a ride on the plantation train when returning home from school met with a terrible accident resulting in instant death. On reaching the nearest point to home Papay and his brother Juan jumped from the rapidly moving train. Juan landed safely, but Papay apparently stumbled on the embankment and fell back under the wheels.

The body was found on the return trip of the train from Wailuku, with the skull cracked almost in twain. Juan, the brother, is supposed to be hiding from terror caused by his brother's death. The mother, who has lately come out of the hospital, is prostrated.

NO LOSS OF TIME.

I have sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for years, and would rather be out of coffee and sugar than it. I sold five bottles of it yesterday to threshers that could go no farther, and they are at work again this morning.—H. R. Phelps, Plymouth, Oklahoma. As will be seen by the above the threshers were able to keep on with their work without losing a single day's time. You should keep a bottle of this remedy in your home.
